put of coal in 1915 in Sebastian County, 1,163,494 tons, was the lowest since 1900 and is 720,000 tons less than in 1907, the record year for that field. The advance in the price of fuel oil late in 1915, if continued, will probably have the effect of increasing the use of Arkansas coal and assist that State to recover to some extent the markets that have been lost within late years.

There were 3,751 men employed in and about the coal mines of Arkansas in 1915, who worked for an average of 149 days, as compared with 4,339 men for 143 days in 1914.

Hensley Plays Important Part.

A special from Washington, D. C., to the St. Louis Republic dated May 13, says: A naval appropriation bill that ignores the five-year building program of Secretary Daniels, but authorizes new construction at once to the amount of $160,000,000, was voted by the House Committee on Naval Affairs to-day.

The committee also approved the proposal of Representative Hensley of Missouri that $200,000 be set aside for the promotion of an international court of arbitration and naval disarmament at the end of the European war. The bill, as reported, meets with approval of Majority Leader Kitchen and other influential democrats.

By a curious combination of circumstances the bill will go to the house as a partisan measure. The eight republican members of the Naval Affairs committee fought all along the line for a bigger navy. In every instance the republicans, who played politics from start to finish, voted for a greater number of vessels than were finally authorized, yet the minority voted against the smaller number. For instance, the republicans fought for six battle cruisers but voted against five when the democratic members combined on that number, chiefly through the influence of Representative Hensley of Missouri, who lined up the "small navy" men at the last minute at the request of Chairman Padgett.

Secretary Daniels is understood to-night to be satisfied with the action of the house committee. He congratulated Mr. Hensley for his part in checking the republicans' political maneuver.

Editor Weds Noted Singer.

(Poplar Bluff Republican.) Whenever an editor takes it into his head to put on something of particular interest to himself and of no particular interest so far as the public is concerned, he generally gets away with it. So when the facts came out Sunday morning that Editor Will W. Horton of the Poplar Bluff Citizen-Democrat, and Miss Pauline Meyers Harrington, the distinguished vocalist, had been made husband and wife at 10 o'clock the night before, friends were profuse with congratulations, and thought nothing strange about it because they had not been told the time and place that the happy event was to occur.

The groom obtained the license before quitting time Saturday, but made County Recorder Hayes swear on a stack of bibles as high as the court house that he would not let anyone know about it until after 10 that night. Everything seemed to "break" just right for the conspirators, and shortly before 10 P. M. the relatives of the happy bride and groom assembled at the First Baptist church parsonage, where Rev. Paul Weber said the words which united the lives and fortunes of the young couple.

Then they repaired to the Gibbons hotel, where Miss Harrington has been living during her stay in the city this spring, and remained there until Wednesday, when the bride left for the east to fill some Chautauqua engagements which she had contracted in advance.

After the close of the chautauqua season Mr. and Mrs. Horton will go to housekeeping and be regular married folks from that time on.

Both bride and groom are well known in this city, where they have spent several happy years of their lives. Horton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Horton and has been one of the proprietors of the Citizen-Democrat since last summer. He looks after the city news and also has an eye on the business department.

The bride is too well known to need introduction. She has acquired an extensive acquaintance throughout country because of her remarkable voice, and has been in demand for solo work for several years by managers of chautauques. She has relatives in Poplar Bluff and many friends, all of whom will wish the young couple many years of prosperity in their voyage on the matrimonial sea.

Doubly Proven.

Ironton Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This grateful citizen testified long ago. Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit. The facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive. It forms a convincing proof of merit. J. P. Zolman, Justice of the peace, Division St., Farmington, Mo., says: "For about a year I was annoyed considerably by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions, particularly during the night. Often when stooping over or after a slight exertion, I could feel my back getting weak. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills and since then, I have felt no sign of the trouble."

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER, Justice Zolman said: "I have had no occasion to use any kidney medicine since I took Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Justice Zolman has twice publicly recommended. Foster-McBlurn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Political Pointers.

To the Republican bosses: We will take four more years of Wilson, peace and prosperity. We "let well enough alone." We take no chances in these perilous times. Signed, The People.

The insincerity of the politicians in control of the Chicago convention is apparent. If they really meant what they said in their speeches and are in earnest in the platform declarations, they want war. Still they fail to point out a single instance to justify war. Furthermore, they know that the constitution vests the power to declare war in Congress and no Republican Congressman has introduced in either house a resolution declaring war. In view of this their attempt to make a case against Wilson by "glittering generalities" and innuendo is such an inglorious failure as to approach the pitiable.

Harding's keynote in the Republican National Convention was a humiliating whine for harmony, and an offer of "amends" to the Progressives if they will only surrender their principles and come back to the old home shack. There's nothing there but husks; no robe, no ring, no fatted calf, not even pie. The chances for pie in the future are too slender to appeal to a Progressive, unless his situation is desperate. The real Progressive actuated by principle has enlisted under the Wilson banner and is marching with the victorious army.

Democrats will be glad to be informed who it is that has promised to disregard the mandate of the constitution and prevent the people from passing on any proposition they desire to act upon. If John Swanger or anybody else has made Shupp and Jones any such promises, the people should have the information. Candidates should have no secret obligations nor side lines. If the plain provisions of the constitution are to be nullified, the rule of the people denied and gag rule established, the people wish to know the identity of the chaps proposing the stunts. Shupp, Jones, Swanger & Co., should be made to divulge.

Not even such an expert fakir as Roosevelt can get by with a false issue against Woodrow Wilson. The attempt to raise the issue of Americanism was the cheapest performance staged in recent political history. It didn't deceive even the stark idiots. The fine Americanism of Wilson has been a feature of the present administration and everybody capable of entertaining an idea knows it. The attempt to steal this honor from the President was as foolish as it was mendacious.

That "busted treasury" made a gain during the month of May. According to the Auditor's monthly statement the balance was a little larger June 1 than May 1, and every warrant paid. This wasn't good enough news to the Globe-Democrat and Post-Dispatch to be admitted to their columns. If these papers can get hold hold of a false rumor discrediting to the State, they smear it on over the front page in an effort to dupe the people and aid partisan plans.

The Democratic voters of Missouri on August 1 will select the ticket for the Democratic party. In this action they are not going to submit to the dictation of Republicans and assistant Republicans. If Republican voters are willing to let these would-be bosses dictate to them and ratify the selection of John Swanger, they may do so; that's their business. But all the indications are that the voters of both parties have made up their minds to resent the impudence of the dictators and attend to the job themselves in their own way, as is their privilege and duty under the law as citizens. Furthermore, it is evident that the efforts of these self-appointed guardians of the voters to embarrass Democratic candidates and prejudice the people, are meeting the large measure of popular indignation such actions deserve. After the primary the Democratic convention will meet and promulgate the Democratic platform and the nominees will stand on that platform, fight the enemy to a finish and win a rousing victory in November. The would-be dictators had just as well stand aside.

The Industrial Home for Negro Girls, located at Tipton, was recently completed and is now open for the reception of incorrigibles. The institution was established by the Legislature in 1909, but Governor Hadley's administration did nothing toward its construction. In the construction of the home this administration has expended approximately $100,000, a burden that came over to it from Hadley. This is in addition to the $476,000 in unpaid bills Hadley's administration left as a legacy for its Democratic successors. In dodging responsibility and leaving unpaid bills the Hadley administration was a blue ribbon taker. That is one of several reasons why Missouri will not vote to turn its affairs over to the Republican bosses in November.

How We Apples Do Float.

(Bonne Terre Register)

George Stanfill is one of the happiest among a whole nation of joyous, exuberant, hilarious Republicans. No, George still has just the one son, "Tien" that. It's a telegram. The telegram does not convey the startling news that Woodrow Wilson has been renominated for President of the United States. Nothing of the sort. In fact George would not have been particularly elated even in getting such a surprise as this. But George was a delegate to the National Conventional at Chicago and was one of those who helped nominate Charles Evans Hughes to be the standard bearer of the Republican Party in the November election. In that gathering of stalwart sons of the Republican Party was Frank Hitchcock, former Postmaster General and the real big smoke of the Hughes boom for President. In the maneuvering, flanking, forging and foray to shunt Theodore the Mighty, to keep him from grabbing the nomination, Mr. Stanfill fell in with Mr. Hitchcock frequently. The one big campaign manager and the one whose ability will shine forth in the coming election and the man who really delivered the people's choice into their hands in that Convention was Mr. Hitchcock. It was the first time Stanfill had ever met Hitchcock but they became acquainted. This is the telegram Mr. Stanfill received Friday morning, and one which any delegate who helped to place before the voters the name of Mr. Hughes would be pleased to get.

Dated Chicago, Ill., June 15, 1916. To Hon. Geo. Stanfill, Bonne Terre, Mo.—Before starting East to-day I want to thank you most heartily for giving your support to the cause in which I have been so deeply interested by nominating Justice Hughes. We open the way for Republican victory, and will be elected in November and will make a great President.

Wayne County Iron Mines Resume.

(Wayne County Journal.)

F. F. Shular, who has made Poplar Bluff his home for several months, while in Greenville Tuesday, informed us that he had again accepted a position with the Orah Land and Investment Company, and was now acting as foreman of the Carnegie iron mine, between Greenville and Williamsville, which has resumed operations.

The mines at Keener are also being worked and it is reported that other mines in the territory contingent to the Ozark Valley will be opened. The mines have been closed for several years on account of a lack of a market. The St. Louis Blast furnace, the only available market west of the Mississippi river, suspended operations in 1910 and high freight rates prohibited shipping the local ore east of the river. The high price of iron products has proved an incentive for the re-opening of the St. Louis furnace and it is now being overhauled preparing to resume business.

The iron mines formerly gave employment to many men and teams in the county and that they will resume work is welcome news, indeed.

Coal in Arkansas in 1915.

A large part of the coal produced in Arkansas is used for locomotive fuel, so that retrenchments in operating expenses by the railroad companies and competition with fuel oil from nearby fields have seriously interfered with the output of coal in Arkansas. According to C. E. Leaser, of the U. S. Geological Survey, the production in 1915 was 1,633,108 short tons, valued at $2,950,466, as compared with 1,836,540 tons, valued at $3,168,168 in 1914, and over 2,000,000 tons, valued at nearly $4,000,000, in 1913.

Sebastian County, which produces about 70 per cent of the total for the State, decreased more than a quarter of a million tons, whereas all other counties recorded increases. The out-
